

Jury Trials

Center Stage is a valuable tool in jury trials for several reasons. It improves voir dire, closing arguments, witness delivery, and attorney skills. Since jury trials entail a decision or findings of fact, which then directs the actions of a judge, an attorney's communication skills and "likeability" factors influence jurors and can guide the outcome. Center Stage helps attorneys put the best and most influential aspects of themselves forward, even under extreme stress. Center Stage has been approved for CE.

Example

Center Stage helped litigators at a large defense firm successfully prepare witnesses for the trial. Due to confidentiality issues, we are unable to disclose any further information, but we have worked on capital murder cases, civil cases, and several medical malpractice cases. Jury trials require substantial customization, typically achieved through a combination of the Center Stage program, coaching, and consulting.

Center Stage Tip

Communication training is one component of mandatory continuing legal education. Center Stage can provide a large block of the annual hours required to meet these obligations.